ABOUT THE BLACK BELT COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

The mission of the Black Belt Community Foundation (BBCF) is to forge a collective stream of giving from the community and other sources so we, the people of the Black Belt, can enhance our continuing efforts to lift ourselves by “taking what we have to make what we need.” The vision of BBCF is of a transformed Black Belt where all of our people live and work in healthy, prosperous, inclusive, educated, creative, and giving communities.

As a community foundation, we provide a way for both individuals and institutions to pool their contributions and create a significant local impact together. Since its founding in 2004, the BBCF has raised and distributed over $20 million in grants to nonprofits that are making a difference in local communities. Some of the notable projects funded include: Storm Shelters, Tornado Relief/Rebuilding, Selma Housing Giveaway, Kellogg Foundation’s Truth, Racial, Healing & Transformation, and the Head Start program.

Headquartered in Selma, Alabama, BBCF’s service area encompasses a 12-county region that stretches from the State’s eastern border with Georgia to the State’s western border with Mississippi.

ABOUT THE HONOREE

Bryan Stevenson

Founder and Executive Director, Equal Justice Initiative

Bryan Stevenson is the founder and Executive Director of the Equal Justice Initiative (EJI), a nationally recognized human rights organization based in Montgomery, Alabama. A widely acclaimed public interest lawyer, Stevenson has dedicated his career to advocating for the poor, the incarcerated, and the wrongly condemned.

Under his leadership, EJI has won major legal challenges addressing excessive sentencing, wrongful convictions, and the treatment of children in the criminal legal system. His work in Alabama helped bring national attention to issues of injustice deeply connected to the history and communities of the Black Belt region. Stevenson also led the creation of EJI's internationally recognized Legacy Sites, including the Legacy Museum and the National Memorial for Peace and Justice.

A graduate of Harvard Law School and the Harvard School of Government, Stevenson is the author of the bestselling memoir Just Mercy, which was adapted into an award-winning feature film. His work has earned numerous honors, including the MacArthur Foundation "Genius" Grant and the National Humanities Medal presented by President Joe Biden.

Through his advocacy, scholarship, and leadership, Stevenson continues to inspire communities to confront injustice while advancing a more hopeful and equitable future.

“You don’t change the world with the ideas in your mind, but with the conviction in your heart.”

-Bryan Stevenson
